TO ESTABLISH EQUALITY

The first record vote of the present session of the federal parliament came when a bill, sponsored by Mr. J. T. Shaw, independent member of West Calgary, to establish equality between husband and wife, insofar as grounds for divorce are concerned, received a second reading by a majority of 40. Members voting for the bill numbered 109, while 69 voted against it. The Prime Minister and leaders of the Opposition and the Progressive party united in support of the bill, which had the approval of the great majority of members of the Conservative and Progressive parties. Opposition came chiefly from a portion of the Liberal party.

Although the measure is designed solely for the purpose of placing men and women on an equality insofar as the grounds for divorce are concerned, the field of discussion broadened until the whole question of divorce was traversed.

The Coleman Juniors, about the nimblest stick-handling team in the province, noed out by a five to four score in a championship game against Canmore at Lethbridge on Monday night.

FIRST MEETING OF NEW COUNCIL

The first regular meeting of the new 1925 town council was held on Monday night, with Mayor McLeod, Councillors Robert Hays, Mark Sartoris, A. E. Ferguson, W. Patterson, J. E. Gillis and Joseph Montalbeti present.

Secretary Wright announced that newly-elected mayor and councillors had been duly sworn into office.

Mayor McLeod proceeded with appointment of Committees, the slate being as follows, the first named in each case being chairman:

Finance—J. E. Gillis, J. Montalbeti.

Electric Light—J. Montalbeti, W. Patterson and M. Sartoris.

Licenses and Police—A. E. Ferguson, R. Hays and J. E. Gillis.

Waterworks—W. Patterson, M. Sartoris and A. E. Ferguson.

Fire—R. Hays, A. E. Ferguson and W. Patterson.

Health and Relief—M. Sartoris, J. E. Gillis and J. Montalbeti.

Works and Property—Mayor McLeod and Council.

Ferguson—Montalbeti: That the committees as slated by Mayor McLeod be approved. Carried with Councillor Patterson objecting to chairmanship of Waterworks committee. Councillor Patterson asked that his objection be noted and declared that he would decline to act in capacity of chairman on that committee.

The minutes of previous regular meeting were adopted as read and the following accounts were passed for payment, subject to approval by committees: R. Crayford $47.50, Alberta Government Telephones $32.50, Star Bakery (refund of trader's deposit fee) $50.00, S. Ennis $13.30, F. M. Thompson Co. (for relief orders filled) $36.52, West Canadian Collieries, Limited, (for February electric current) $445.25.

Mr. Nissen, representing the local Star Bakery, asked the council to consider more adequate business protection. According to the town by-laws, an outsider could come into town and sell wares in opposition to the local establishment upon the payment of a ten-dollar license fee, while at Coleman the local concern is protected to the extent of $100.00. The council gave the matter consideration, but thought that the fee of $100.00 was quite uncalled for and promised to make the transient fee $50.00, which Mr. Nissen agreed to.

Councillor Ferguson forthwith gave notice that at the next regular meeting of the council he would introduce an amendment to License By-Law No. 4, respecting license for transient bakers.

Capt. W. A. Beebe asked for reduction of license for the Opera House. The matter was referred to the License Committee for consideration.

Mr. Shevas appealed to the council for relief work or the loan of $40 on security of property purchased from the town last year. Mr. Shevas had made payment of $140 on purchase price of two lots on State Street and was willing to allow the lots to revert to the town if above amount was paid back to him, to which the council agreed. Shevas to furnish the town with a quit-claim deed.

Ex-Councillor J. A. McDonald brought up matter of protecting local merchants against transients who came into town and evaded our license fees by showing their wares under the name of and in the premises of a local concern. He cited a couple of cases brought to his attention during the week, where two parties displayed millinery and furs in a local store and got away with considerable cash that should have remained in town. No action was taken.

Councillor Patterson asked as to what right the Mayor had to take rubber boots, the property of the fire department, to be used on river work that was being done by the federal

"THE PRIVATE SECRETARY"

The event of the season will be the staging of the three-act farical comedy, "The Private Secretary," at the local opera house on Tuesday next, St. Patrick's night.

The curtain will rise promptly at 8.15, and doors will be open from 7.30. Admission tickets are selling like hotcakes at popular prices, viz: Adults 75 cents; children 50 cents. Reserve plan can be seen at the Blairmore Pharmacy. Reserve seats are $1.00.

Following is the cast:

Mr. Marsland (M. F. H.)—Mr. W. Thomas.

Harry Marsland (his nephew)—Mr. C. J. Devine.

Mr. Catermole—Mr. R. Wootton.

Douglas Catermole (his nephew)—Mr. W. Bird.

Rev. Robert Spalding (The Private Secretary)—Mr. G. L. Stevens.

Sydney Gibson (Bond Street tailor)—Mr. J. E. Upton.

John (a servant)—Mr. R. W. H. Pinkney.

Knok (a writ server)—Mr. R. W. H. Pinkney.

Edith Marsland (daughter of Marsland)—Miss B. E. Douglas.

Eva Webster (her friend and companion)—Mrs. E. A. Harper.

Mrs. Stead (Douglas' landlady)—Mrs. M. G. Rhynas.

Mrs. Ashford (governess)—Miss M. E. Rae.

"The Private Secretary" is one of the most amusing farce comedies ever written. The scenes are as follows:

ACT I—"Found"—Douglas Catermole's apartments; comfortable, but not luxurious.

ACT II—"Full Cry"—Mr. Marsland's County Seat, in the morning room.

ACT III—"Run to Earth"—At Mr. Marsland's County Seat.

Originally produced at Theatre Royal, Cambridge, November 14th, 1883; afterwards performed at Prince's Theatre, London, March 29th, 1884, and next reproduced by the Elks' Dramatic Club at the Blairmore Opera House on St. Patrick's night, Tuesday, March 17th, 1925.

Each character will be a keram and if you are in trim for laughing, here is your opportunity to go the limit.

Judging by the demand for tickets, both reserve and rush, a crowded house is assured.

COLEMAN "TIGERS" DEFEAT B.C. CHAMPIONS

VANCOUVER, March 10.—Being forced to play only six players, owing to the ruling of the Alberta Hockey Union in debaring four of the regulars, did not make any difference to the young Coleman Tigers in the final game of their Allan cup elimination series with Rossland Miners here last night. The Tigers uncorked the smoothest combination seen here in amateur ranks in many a day and by a last period finish, when they ran in five goals, emerged victorious 8 to 4, which gave them a lead of 18 to 5 on the round.

The Coleman team left after the game for Winnipeg to compete in the next round of the Allan cup series.

Lady Byng has donated a challenge cup to be held by the cleanest and most effective player in the national hockey league. In a letter to the president of the National League, Lady Byng states: "I am convinced that the public desires good sport, not the injuring of players, and if by donating this challenge cup I can in any way help toward this end, it will give me a great deal of pleasure."

Mayor McLeod stated that he would take the rubber boots or other tools if he needed them, that the work on the river was in the interests of the town and that he did not consider his action out of place.

CALGARY "JIMMIES" TO BE HERE ON SATURDAY

According to latest arrangements, the Calgary "Jimmies" (Midgets) will be in Blairmore on Saturday and at 7.30 p.m. will play the Blairmore "Trail Rangers" (Midgets) in the sudden-death final for the provincial championship.

The Blairmore lineup will be as follows:

Vandaren, goal; Anderson and Kemp, defence; McDonald, Martin and Joyce, forwards; Christophers, Evans and Joyce, subs.

Mr. James G. Ewan, former mayor of the Town of Blairmore, who for the past few years has been a resident of Shawinigan Lake, and other parts of Vancouver Island, arrived back in town by last night's train. Mr. Ewan hopes to re-locate in The Pass owner afe as a pole, and a substitute for hatpins.

LOGAN PASS ROAD TO BE READY NEXT YEAR

Completion of the Logan Pass road, connecting the east and west entrances to Glacier National Park and perfecting the international park-to-park highway, will probably be accomplished this year.

The Logan Pass road has been under construction for several years and work has been far advanced on both the eastern and western ends. The new road is interesting to Canadians, in that it will add another link in the chain of park highways now attracting motor tourists in Western Canada and the States.

Among the year's inventions by women are a transparent umbrella, parts of Vancouver Island, arrived interchangeable scissors blades, a portable bathing tent in which the Ewan hopes to re-locate in The Pass owner afe as a pole, and a substitute for hatpins.

SAYS FARMERS WILL PROFIT BY THE WHEAT POOL

Toronto.—The establishment of a Canadian national economic council for the discussion of problems connected with the entire Dominion with a view to shaping an economic policy fair to all provinces, was the suggestion offered by George Edwards, president of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers' Association, in an address here, when the members of the Canadian Council of Agriculture were the guests of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at dinner.

The west, said Mr. Edwards was doing its best to solve the problem presented by the present difficulty. The western farmer had awakened to the fact that he was the only manufacturer to throw his product on the market without regard to price or cost of production, and as a result, the price of the grain grown had dropped to a level below the cost of production.

The Saskatchewan wheat pool, he said, would at least secure for its members the average price for the season, and he estimated that in view of the present high price, of wheat it would result in a saving of between $20,000,000 and $30,000,000 to the Saskatchewan farmers this year.

A cordial welcome to the guests was extended by the chairman, T. A. Russell, of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, who pointed out that the two organizations had much in common, the members of both being engaged in basic industries of Canada.

Alberta Will Repeat

Display At Wembley

Government Is Undecided Whether They Will Send Representative

Edmonton.—Alberta will be represented at Wembley again this year, it is stated, by Premier Greenfield. The exhibition made by the province last year, as part of the all-British display, will be repeated, but probably will have some changes and additions made to it, to bring it more fully up to date. It has not yet been decided, said the premier, whether a government representative will be sent with it, as was done last year, for either part or whole of the time, the exhibition is open.

In addition to the Wembley exhibit, there will be a provincial exhibit this year at the national exposition in Toronto, where space has already been secured and assigned for a display of Alberta's resources of farms, mines and forests.

Prospector Has Narrow Escape

Injured in Fall Down Shaft, Unstayed For Eight Days

Dawson, Y.T.—Fred Potts, 58, a prospector, fell down a 30-foot shaft on Gold Creek on February 26, and, although badly injured, managed to climb to the surface and crawl to his cabin. For by far eight days he remained unable to help himself, to run out of food and wood for fuel, and was close to death when his plight was discovered. He is expected to recover.

No One Wants Job

London.—Although Great Britain is paying a dole of 15 shillings a week to thousands of unemployed men, railway officials have been unable for four months to find a man who would take a job as porter in a station at 30 shillings a week.

Fewer Suicides in Berlin

Berlin.—Suicides in Berlin decreased last year to 36 for each 1,000 of population, as against 43.5 to 1,000 in 1922. Efforts are being made to get rid of the cause of suicide in an effort further to reduce the number.

Prince Albert Claims Crow's Nest Rates

Prince Albert.—The Prince Albert board of trade is demanding that the Crow's Nest Pass agreement, which was made applicable on freight to this city, basing its claim on the fact that the present Regina-Prince Albert branch of the C.N.R. was operated under lease by the C.P.R. at the time the Crow's Nest Pass agreement was made. The board contends Prince Albert has equal claims as Saskatoon, which is on the same line, in the privileges of the agreement, and is demanding that the discrimination at present existing against Prince Albert be removed.

Seeking Better Freight Rates

Northern Alberta Relying on Sir Henry Thornton's Promise
Edmonton.—Sir Henry Thornton's promise, given at a meeting in this city last August, that discriminations under the Crow's Nest Pass agreement would not be allowed to "continue annually," is a peg on which the board of trade is hanging its hopes for some adjustment of railway freight rates more equitable to Edmonton and Northern Alberta.

It is a vice president to Sir Henry, following a conference between Sydney D. Woods, K.C., and the board of trade, the special Crow's Nest rates, the Canadian National Railway's president in violation of his promise, hope being expressed at the time that the terms of said promise may be carried out at an early date.

Marvels of Science

Photographs of U.S. Presidential Inaugural Ceremony Transmitted By Wire in Record Time

San Francisco.—Photographs taken in Washington of the presidential inaugural ceremony, were received in this city within nine minutes by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The newest electrical marvel produced pictures that were as clear as objects as when they came from the camera, although transmitted over 3,000 miles of wire. They appeared in early editions of the San Francisco afternoon newspapers. Fifty minutes was the average time elapsing between the snapping of each photo and its completion in San Francisco.

Empire Exhibition Has An Overdraft

$1,750,000 Is Largely Covered By Government Guarantees

London.—The British Empire Exhibition has an overdraft at Lloyd's bank of $1,750,000. Lloyd's Bank last season enjoyed a monopoly of the banking facilities in the exhibition grounds at Wembley last year, but is willing to forego this privilege if other banks with a share in the financial responsibility of the exhibition.

The present overdraft, however, is largely covered by the government guarantee of the exhibition, which was recently increased to $1,100,000. The bank has agreed to allow an increase in the overdraft up to a total of $2,200,000.

Embassy in Turkey

London.—The British government has decided to raise its present mission to Turkey to the status of an embassy. Negotiations carried on between the Turkish representative in London and Austro-Chamberlain, secretary for foreign affairs, were concluded and it is expected that an announcement of the elevation of the mission will be made in the next few days.

Will Exploit British Goods

London.—A company is being formed with a capital of $500,000 for the establishment in London and other cities of an exhibition for the sale of model dresses made from English and Scotch dress fabrics. The models will be sold to "chaperones" and particular supplies of the dress who made them, so that wholesalers may then sell to the retail trade.

Adopt Masqueline Attire

London.—British women are adopting masqueline hats, white collars, high-trimmed shirts and white waistcoats with a bow tie. The newest modish novelty is a string of glass beads with a small electric light as a pendant, which makes the beads sparkle at night.

Explosion in German Factory

Reinhold, Saxony.—Five persons were killed and 39 others injured in a dynamite explosion, following a fire in the powder division of the Westphalen-Anhalt Explosive Factory here. The force of the blast was so strong that the roofs of surrounding buildings were torn off.

Too Much Overhead

Robt. Forke Speaks of Difficulties Under Which Canada Is Laboring

Montreal.—Canadians were living in a house that was too big for them, which they made applicable to completely with railway, roads, etc., and for which they were not able to pay the rent, said Robert Forke, M.P., leader of the Progressive Party, in an address here. This country undoubtedly possessed great natural resources, but these were not of much immediate value as long as they were undeveloped.

They were great geographical difficulties, he said, notably the 1,000 miles of unimproved land between North Bay and Winnipeg, which, more than anything, was responsible for the existence of a definite east and west. But sectionalism must be killed, and people must think in terms of Canadianism, must accept a spirit of compromise and of give and take. If Canada is to proceed to its proper place, he said.

PLAIN CEREMONY AT INAUGURATION OF U.S. PRESIDENT

Washington.—Calvin Coolidge at the inauguration ceremony quietly assumed the duties of President of the United States for four more years.

In a brief ceremony, which never deviated from the simple programme laid down by himself, Mr. Coolidge renewed his oath of office on his grand mother's Bible and in a short speech restated his government's policy of frugality.

Thousands of people witnessed the induction of Mr. Coolidge, and millions more listened to what he said at his radio sets. His address was to "My Countrymen." In an unburied, even tone, the president read from his manuscript steadily until he reached his final declaration that the United States cherishes no purpose save that to merit the favor of "Almighty God."

The oath of office was administered by Chief Justice Taft, himself a former president. Mr. Coolidge responded with a firm, yet almost inaudible, "I do."

The gala celebration and expensive trappings of former inaugurations were almost entirely lacking. After the presidential address had been concluded, Mr. Coolidge was escorted by troops of cavalry from the capitol to the White House, where he took his place with his guests in a glass-enclosed revolving stand to witness the passing of the inaugural parade.

Cannery For Winnipeg

Announce Granting of Charter to a Million Dollar Company

Winnipeg.—It was announced that a Dominion charter has been granted to a million dollar company which plans to operate a cannery in the Winnipeg district. The company will be known as the Allied British Canneries and Distributors, Limited, and it is controlled by United States capitalists. Operations probably will be commenced next fall.

In addition to the Winnipeg plant, the company will establish canneries in Quebec and British Columbia, according to present plans.

Would End Lotteries

Ottawa.—H. Martell, of Hants, intends to introduce a bill in the house, which, if adopted, will cut out church lotteries altogether. "Clergy," the Criminal Code, as it stands, church and charitable institutions may hold lotteries with the permission of the municipal authorities, when the prize does not exceed $50 in value. Mr. Martell's bill would abolish this exception to the general rule.

National Flag For Canada

Ottawa.—A national flag for Canada is the proposal of A. R. McMaster, liberal member of the House of Commons for Toronto. Mr. McMaster proposes to move that "the government should take such steps as may result in the creation or choice of a national flag."

To Take New Office

L. G. M. S. AMERY who will be known as Secretary of State for Imperial Affairs, after the Colonial Office becomes the Department of Imperial Affairs.

New Earl of Oxford Makes Maiden Speech

Acquith Cautions Allies Against Indefinite Occupation of Rhineland

London.—The Earl of Oxford and Asquith made his maiden speech in the House of Lords. He cautioned the allies against occupying the Rhine land indefinitely, when they had expected to keep troops there for a strictly limited time. France's feeling of insecurity at present, he said, afforded grounds for a comprehensive international pact in the interest, not only of French security, but of the security of Europe and the whole world. That, he argued, was the most urgent need today.

Canadian Woman War Correspondent Dead

Gifted Writer Accompanied British Forces to Mesopotamia

Vancouver, B.C.—World famous as a woman war correspondent and magazine writer, Eleanor Franklin Egan is dead at New York from pneumonia. She was the wife of Mr. Martin Egan, who at one time was on the staff of the Victoria Times, and later did war correspondent work. Mrs. Egan accompanied the British forces in the Mesopotamian campaign, and subsequently toured India, and the Far East. She was a gifted writer and news of her death will cause genuine sorrow in British Columbia.

Using Radio To Spread Propaganda

Daily Programme in Russia, Devoted to Political Talks

Moscow.—Soviet Russia has three radio sending stations, at Moscow, Leningrad, and Nizhny-Novgorod. These are under the control of the government at posts, telegraphs and telephone.

Much of the daily programme is devoted to talks of a political nature. The Bolsheviks take advantage of the government controlled radio to further their party propaganda.

Carry On Good Work

Research Council Gives Aid to Many Activities

Ottawa.—Forty-six research investigations were carried on in 1924, and 18 reports have been made under assistance from the council for scientific and industrial research the annual report of which was tabled in the House. During the fiscal year ending March 31, 1924, $55,620 was granted for research, research, out of a total value of $120,000. Twelve fellowships eight studentships and 24 bursaries were granted by the council, and work was being carried on by 19 university departments in Canada.

U.S. Congress Favors World Court

Washington.—The house placed itself overwhelmingly on record in favor of "early adherence" to the United States to the world court "with the reservation recommended by President Harding and President Coolidge." The resolution, which requires neither senate nor presidential approval, stated the readiness of the house to participate in the enactment of such legislation.

Powder Explosion Injures Soldiers
Houston.—Eight enlisted men of the United States army were seriously injured, three fatally, as the result of an explosion at Schofield Barracks, near here. The men were loading shells in preparation for the forthcoming army and navy manoeuvres when some powder exploded, burning all of them.

Singapore Base Will Cost Million Pounds

Singapore.—The cost of the site of the proposed Singapore naval base was $1,500,000. It was officially stated at the Empire naval conference in session here. It was added that the acquisition of the site had been completed, and the land was being handed over as required. Hong Kong will contribute $250,000 sterling toward the cost of the base. This is the first naval conference held in Far Eastern waters since March, 1921. Much importance is attached to it in view of the defense problems to be discussed in regard to the Pacific.

Will Hold Conference in May

To Discuss Development of Canadian West Indian Trade

Ottawa.—Preliminary arrangements are under way for the holding of a Canadian conference in May. The idea will be the negotiation of a new treaty for the development of reciprocal trade.

Hance Logan, M.P., who recently visited the West Indies as commissioner for the Canadian government, reports that everywhere the proposal for another conference was received with enthusiasm, and that there was a general desire to send delegates.

Will Terminate Agreement

Western Mines Give Notice to American Mine Workers

Calgary.—The Western Canada Coal Operators' Association at a meeting here, decided to give notice to the United Mine Workers of America on March 31, terminating their present agreement on September 30. Since the resumption of operations in October after the strike, the coal mining industry of the province has been badly hit, many of the mines working one or two days a week. The present cost of production at the union mines, it is stated, has been largely responsible for the great falling off in business.

ONTARIO WANTS TO SECURE COAL FROM ALBERTA

Toronto.—During his address in the legislature, Premier Ferguson spoke at some length on Ontario getting coal from other Canadian provinces.

When it is found a deficit for the National Railway, there would be the satisfaction of knowing that the money was staying within Canada, and that interprovincial trade was being carried along as Confederation intended that it should be, the premier said.

He declared that arrangements had been made to bring 100,000 tons of Alberta coal to Ontario on May 1 next, and that in a short time it was hoped to get Alberta and Nova Scotia coal here as cheaply as United States coal was now being hauled in.

Assessment Tribunal

New Act May Be Submitted in Alberta Legislature

Edmonton.—To make the taxing of improvements compulsory in all the towns and villages of the province, and to provide for the establishment of a special tribunal to deal with assessments and assessment appeals, are the main objectives of a proposed scheme now being considered by the government. It is likely that a new act, embodying these points, will be prepared for submission at the present session of the legislature.

A strong delegation for the Alberta Union of Municipalities was in conference with the government, when the question was discussed at length.

Edmonton, Calgary, Lethbridge and Red Deer were represented, together with a number of smaller places.

Interrupt Cock Fight

Windsor, Ont.—Three thousand dollars' worth of poultry in a growing wild in the heart of the provincial police headquarters here as the result of a raid in Sandwich, when 45 game cocks were seized and the preliminary for an old-fashioned cock fight interrupted. About 40 spectators were found in a basement where the cock pit was erected.

Supervising Credits
Winnipeg.—Six additional rural credit societies with total liabilities of $224,832, have been placed in the rural credits as administrators. Of the 74 societies in the province, 44 with approximately $1,750,000 outstanding, are now being administered by the provincial department. It is officially stated.

GRAIN FUTURES CASE BEFORE THE PRIVY COUNCIL

London.—The judicial committee of the privy council has reserved judgment on the appeal of the Attorney-General of Manitoba as to whether the act providing for the collecting of a tax by the province from the sellers of grain for future delivery was ultra vires of the province of Manitoba.

Special leave to appeal was granted to the Attorney-General of Manitoba, Hon. W. R. Craig, on his personal application by the judicial committee of the privy council in July, 1924. The Grain Futures Act, passed by the legislature of Manitoba in 1923, provided for the collection of a tax from persons selling grain for future delivery.

Objections to the act had originally been raised by the province of Saskatchewan, the latter provinces having urged the Dominion Parliament to disallow this legislation on the ground that it involved one province employing powers of taxation which were reserved to the main provinces of another province. The Supreme Court of Canada ruled against Manitoba in the case.

E. L. Newcombe, deputy minister of justice for the Dominion, stated at the hearing of the petition for leave to appeal that he would not oppose it, as the matter was one of general constitutional importance. The provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta were both represented at the hearing of the appeal by Eugene Labaree, K.C., and the province of Manitoba by W. N. Tilley, K.C., of Toronto, and Geoffrey Laurance, K.C., of London, Eng.

Bachelors Would Marry

Homesteaders in Alberta May Bring Prospective Brides From Old Country

Edmonton.—Unmarried farmers in the Yuma district in Alberta, are beginning to weaken under the monotony of "single blessedness."

At any rate a group of bachelor farmers, with the assistance of the Yuma district "League," have commenced a "bachelors' tour" to visit England and Ireland this summer and bring back with him women of marriageable age who would make suitable life partners for the Yuma homesteaders. The Y.U.A. locals have endorsed the idea, both morally and financially.

Bovine Tuberculosis Can Be Eradicated

But Owner Must Be Interested Say Government Officials

Ottawa.—Bovine tuberculosis can be eradicated at low cost, provided the owner is interested in cleaning up his herd, and will co-operate with the government, stated Dr. George Hill, veterinary director-general, in addressing the select standing committee on agriculture and colonization of the House of Commons.

"We realize that an adequate supply of tuberculosis-free cattle is necessary," he continued, "to maintain our foreign markets."

Take Tariff Out Of Politics

Windsor, Ont.—Tom Moore, Canadian labor chief, would have the whole Canadian tariff question taken out of the political arena, and rested on a scientific basis, in all the present unemployment problem confronting the Dominion he said. The tariff has been too long a playing for political parties, Mr. Moore intimated.

Est. More Appeals

Ottawa.—Instead of calling an average of 10 appeals a day, Canadians have pared their ration to four a week, he was cited at the annual convention of the Canadian hospital association council here.

To boost the average up to the well-known slogan standard, an intensive advertising campaign is to be conducted during the ensuing year.

THE MINERS' STRIKE

That dispute between operators and miners at the works of the British Empire Steel Company is greatly to be deplored. News from the Maritime Provinces shows that troubles are not ameliorating, and as a result the output of the mines is curtailed and production seriously reduced.If the suffering among the miners and their families is one-half as bad as the miners' officials paint it—and there is no reason to suppose they have exaggerated conditions—there is an abnormal amount of distress and poverty in a section where employment should be regular and the community prosperous.The Hon. Mr. Armstrong, Provincial Premier, has taken a hand in the negotiations and his proposal that there should be an immediate return to work at the 1924 scale pending the holding of a commission of enquiry and that the new scale shall be retroactive from the date of the nomination of the commission, seemed at least a method of staying off the evil day and securing a breathing space.It is unfortunate that the answer of mine officials does not agree to accept such a commission—"It is neither our practice nor is it wisdom for us to bind ourselves in advance to the findings of a commission which in all probability, judging from past experiences, will be about as antagonistic to us as is the Corporation itself."This is hardly the language of conciliation and it is to be feared that the miners will not gain much sympathy for their cause by the action of these leaders.Canadians generally are anxious that everything shall be done to find some basis of settlement of this wasteful wage dispute and that the sufferings of the half-timers and the unemployed be relieved as speedily as possible.But, the feeling is general that there should be in evidence a desire on both sides of the controversy to grasp every chance to end the present condition of stress, and to ensure an amicable understanding between employers and employees.—Montreal

NEW BISHOP OF CALGARY

The Right Rev. Monsignor Kidd,
President of St. Augustine Seminary at Toronto, who has been appointed to succeed Right Rev. J. T. McNally as Bishop of Calgary, Alberta, is one of the best known Roman Catholic clerics in the Archdiocese of Toronto.A native of Ontario, the new bishop was born in Adajala Township, Simcoe County, on August 28, 1868. He was educated at the old De La Salle Institute and at St. Michael's College, Toronto, after which he went to Rome to complete his theological studies, taking a full two-year philosophical course in the College of the Propaganda, and afterwards spending four years in the Gregorian University, where he received the degree of doctor of theology.Returning to Canada, he was appointed curate in the parish of Pen-tangshene, Ontario, and later assumed charge of the parish. In 1906 he went to Toronto as chancellor to the then Archbishop McEvoy; and on the latter's death in 1911 he became administrator of the archdiocese until the appointment of Archbishop Mc-Neill.He was placed in charge of St. Augustine's Seminary in 1913. In 1923 the degree of L.L.D. was conferred upon him by the University of Ottawa.

WHY AN ENGINE

SHOULD BE A "SHE"

The following letter from "Japanese lady" appeared in the shipping Register at San Francisco:"Some time ago you publish in your valuable paper article on female shipping steamer. I have thought to write you about female engine on train. You know why? Yes, they call she for many because."They wear jacket with yoke, pins, hangers, straps, shields, stays. They have apron, also lap. They have not only shoes but have pumps. Also hose and drag train (pass and freight) behind. Behind time all time. They attract men with puffs and muffers and when draft too strong petticoat goes up. This also attract men. Some time they foam and refuse work when at such time they should be switched.
They need guiding—it always requires man manager.""They require men to feed them.
When abuse are given they quickly make scrap.""They are steadier when coupled up but my cousin say they hell of an expense. It not enough reason?"A boy at a party the other night boasted that his father presented him with a beautiful silver spoon, bearing the inscription: "For a good boy.""That's nothing," retorted another, wishing to prove that his own family could do better. "My father went out to dinner last night and he brought me home a silver fork with "Cosmopolitan Hotel" on the back. So, there!"The head porter at a certain hotel had been very persistent in his attempts without extracting any substantial recognition from a pessimistic old gentleman, whose many aversions seemed to include the custom of tipping. But the porter was hopeful, and he assisted the old man into the cab that was to bear him away."Cloudy day, sir," he ventured to remark, with an expectant smile."Yes," replied the stingy veteran, with a significant snort, "and no change coming either."The conceited young man had talked about himself till the girl felt she could not endure it much longer."It cost a great deal more than one would think to become a broad-minded and intelligent man of the world," he remarked serenely. The girl saw her chance and took it."I suppose so," she said, "and I don't blame you for saving your money."A certain editor, unknown to fame, states that a man who squeezes a dollar seldom squeezes his wife. We have been looking over our subscription list and are led to believe that some mighty fine women are not getting the attention they deserve.

Autos For Prince's
South African Tour

Seven Seated Car For Use In Nigeria

For the Prince's tour during his South African tour six handsome touring cars are being sent out, five for the staff and one for himself. All are of 25-h.p. and they will be in charge of Mr. P. J. Small, who drove the Prince during his travels in India, Australia, and Japan. The Prince's own car, which Mr. Small will drive, is a five-seater, painted royal blue and upholstered in blue leather, with the Prince of Wales' crest on the doors and the three feathers in metal on the front of the car. For His Royal Highness's visit to Nigeria a huge seven-seater touring car, painted bright red, is being sent out. On the floor will be provided a display of the Royal Highness's crest, at the back and on the doors. Scarlet has been selected in preference to royal blue as being more impressive from the point of view of the West African natives.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS
ALWAYS IN THE HOME

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little one she will use nothing else, and as long as there are babies in the home you will always find a box of Baby's Own Tablets on hand. Thousands of mothers have become convinced through the actual use of the Tablets that there is nothing so equal to them in banishing colic, pain and indigestion; breaking up colds and simple fevers; expelling worms and promoting that healthy refreshing sleep so necessary to the welfare of little ones. Among the thousands of mothers who praise Baby's Own Tablets is Mrs. Alex. J. Perry, Atlantic, N.S., who says: "I always keep Baby's Own Tablets in the house as I know of no other medicine that can equal them for the minor ills that come to young children. The Tablets are used by medicine dealers or by mail at 25c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont."

Prize Winning Recipe
For Mornay Sauce

Montreal Lady Wins First Prize in Borden Recipe Club Contest
Miss Anita Davis, Montreal, has just been advised of her success in winning first prize in the 1924 Borden Recipe Club contest. This contest, which is international in membership, has each a contest each year, open to all members, of whom there are approximately two hundred thousand. Miss Davis essayed a mornay recipe, the plan of the contest being for each competitor to compete in the classification in which she feels she excels. Her recipe follows:

Mornay, Sauce—International Prize Winner

1/2 cup butter, 1/4 cup flour, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon thyme, 1/2 bay leaf, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon white pepper, dash cayenne, 3 egg yolks, 1 cup white stock, 1 cup Borden's Evaporated Milk, 1/2 cup grated Canadian cheese, 1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese.

In the top of a double boiler melt one-fourth cup butter; add onion and cook until yellow. Add the flour and stir until smooth. Combine milk and stock; pour gradually into the mixture, beating well with wire whip. Add seasonings and cook slowly for one hour. Strain, reheat, add cheese and let cook until cheese is melted. Cream remaining fourth cup butter. Beat in the egg yolks gradually, one at a time; add slowly to sauce, mixing well, using care that water in lower part of boiler is not boiling.

This sauce is excellent for all sorts of dishes—crab meat, lobster, also fish, substituting fish stock for the white stock.

Any woman wishing to receive the Borden Recipe Book can write the Borden Company in Montreal, mentioning this paper, and she will be sent a copy free of cost.

A Giant Dirigible

Plans to Build Airship Twice Size of Los Angeles

The Goodyear Company of America is planning the construction of a dirigible twice the size of the Los Angeles to establish a New York-London passenger service. It is reported that Dr. Karl Arnstein, former chief of construction at the Zeppelin plant, is said to have received an offer from the company to build the ship. The ship would have motors generating 4,000 horsepower.

Finds Holland Dull

The explorer and his new wife have recently been to inspect the German crown jewels, which remain intact and were sent to Holland to repose in the vaults of a great bank during the war. William's second wife is very anxious to wear these jewels. The Empress Shu is fed up by the dullness of the little Dutch country of canals, and the expedition to admire the jewels was undertaken to enliven her.

Hillard's Liniment Fine for the Hair

Design New Dirigible
Making Airships Faster and More Adaptable For Long Distance

Innovation in dirigible designs, making the airships faster and safer and more feasible for long distance flights have been submitted to the British Government, says the Press Association. Its most important as yet it would be possible with the new ships to make the journey to New Zealand in nine days.

The new designs, it is explained, eliminate the gondolas with the exception of those carrying the motors; thus reducing resistance. They provide space for the pilot and navigating room in the ship's skeleton. This is declared to insure a considerable increase in the range of the flight as proved by experiments carried on by the national physical laboratory.

The new type of dirigible is credited to Commander C. D. Bursay, Member of Parliament, director of the Airship Guarantee Company, with which the Macdonald Government placed an order for a ship of 5,000,000 cubic feet capacity, and to Chief Designer B. N. Wallis, who worked out a new type of mooring mast.

The new mast is described as having enormous arms, extending horizontally, into which the ship's nose fits when moored. Along one of these arms the passengers who ascend by an elevator, pass over a gangway to the dirigible's interior. The arms rotate around a fixed centre, thus enabling the ship to approach from any direction.

Plans also call for floating masts. Great Britain's new ship will provide all these improvements and more upon which experts are working.

Unveils War Memorial
Gen. Sir Nevill MacCreedy Performs Ceremony in France

General Sir Nevill MacCreedy unveiled the tablet erected in Rouen Cathedral, France, by the war-governor commission to the memory of the Empire's war dead. The tablet bears the royal arms, surrounded by those of the Dominions.

"The tablet is inscribed in English and French. 'To the glory of God and to the memory of the one million dead of the British Empire, who fell in the Great War, 1914-18, and of whom the great majority rest in France.'

"The tablet is situated in the chapel of Saint John of Arc. Dr. Philippe Roy, Canadian high commissioner at Paris, represented Canada at the ceremony."

Germany and France
Make Temporary Pact

Commercial Agreement to Remain in Force Nine Months

A commercial modus vivendi between France and Germany has been signed. The temporary trade arrangement, whereby each country gets the benefit of reduced tariffs on specially selected articles on a progressive sliding scale, will continue in force nine months. It will then give way to a permanent commercial treaty, which will be based on the new French tariff.

When a mother detects from the writhings and fretting of a child that worms are troubling it, the cure is a reliable remedy in Miller's Worm Powders which will expel all worms from the system. They may cause vomiting, but this need cause no anxiety, because it is but a manifestation of their thorough work. Worms can long exist where these Powders are used.

Where Men Are Scarce

The stamping ground for Cupid in England should be Sussex county. In Sussex there are more women proportionately than in any county in England, the women numbering 1,274 to every 1,000 men. This is 108 more than the average for the rest of England, and about 188 more than in 1914 before the men went to war and the women to work in the fields.

Now is the time when all aged people who wish to maintain their health and vigor and retain their energy unimpaired should use

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

Mrs. M. O'Connor, Whitehouse, Ont., writes: "I have been troubled, most of my life, with shortness of breath, palpitation of the heart, and fainting spells. I was advised, by a friend, to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and at once found relief, and I have never had a really bad spell since. I am 60 years of age, and I always keep them in the house, and feel that with their help I will see many years of life. I always recommend them to anyone who is suffering from heart trouble."

Examining Steel By X-Rays

Apparatus Wanted to Detect Flaws Through Eight-Inch Thickness

A great many X-ray apparatuses of steel three inches thick. Professor Paulin, director of the radiological research department, Woolwich, Reg., told the Royal Society.

It was wanted, in order to detect flaws in castings which were a danger to men's lives, was apparatus to enable them to examine into castings of eight, ten or twelve inches thickness.

A transformer had been constructed, rated at 100,000 volts, and what was now required was a tube capable of taking that voltage.

When that was found they would be able to penetrate eight inches of steel.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MARCH 15
OUR LORD'S RESURRECTION

Golden Text: The Lord is risen indeed. Luke 24:34.
Lesson: John 20:1-18.
Devotional Reading: Psalm 165:1-11.

The Text Explained and Illumined

The Visit of Mary Magdalene to the Tomb of Christ, verses 1, 2. On Sunday, the first day of the week, Mary Magdalene came early to the tomb of Jesus. Mary Magdalene was from the village of Magdala north of Tiberias; see Mk. 16:9. What Jesus had done for her is told in Lk. 8:2. She had been one of those near the cross (Jo. 19:25; Lk. 8:2). There were others with her, as the "we" in the next verse indicates, and they had come to embalm the body of Jesus (Mt. 28:1; Mk. 16:1; Lk. 24:1, 10).

A stone which had been rolled away to the entrance of the tomb (Mk. 15:46) and sealed (Mt. 27:66). It was probably a cylindrical stone which could be rolled to either side in a groove at the base of the opening. The women found the stone rolled away and hastened away to tell Peter and John (John always refers to himself in his Gospel as "the disciple whom Jesus loved"), while the others evidently remained at the tomb and the events took place which are recorded in Mt. 28:3-8; Mk. 16:5-8; and Lk. 24:1-10. On meeting the two disciples Mary cried "Thou art alive, thou have taken away the Lord out of the tomb, and we know not where they have laid him."

Asthma Victim

The man or woman subject to asthma is indeed a victim. What can be more terrifying than to suddenly be seized with paroxysms of choking which seem to threaten the existence of life itself. From such a condition Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy has brought many to completely restored health and happiness. It is well known and tried in every section of this broad land.

Treasure Hunters in Mexico

Believe City's Post Office Covers Gold and Precious Stones

In Mexico City's post office built on a foundation of gold ingots and precious stones.

The claim is supported by Dr. Manuel Gamio, director of anthropology for the Mexican republic, who believes that the fabulous treasure of Montezuma, inherited from the kings of Aztec and Aztec, was hidden in his vaults, to be found beneath this palatial structure.

As a result of private investigations, several individuals, and one well-known salvage concern, have recently acquired the department of anthropology for permission to excavate under the post office. One American enthusiast offered to advance $10,000 for the privilege, and to divide his finds equally with the government.

The treasure hunters who petition Dr. Gamio for excavating concessions, are doubtless inspired by a letter written by Cortez himself to the king of Spain, shortly before the "Dismal Night," in which the conqueror describes the plunder. After enumerating the "bars and sheets of gold, the silver, feather-work and the stones, and other things of value allotted to Your Sacred Majesty," he adds in comment:

"These, besides their value, are such, so marvellous, that for the sake of their novelty and strangeness, they have no price, nor is it probable that all the princes ever heard of in the world possess such treasures."

Appeals For Justice For France

Premier Herriot Wants to Tell the World Real Countenance of Nation

Premier Herriot recently met the Anglo-American Press Association members and delivered a statement reiterating engagements subscribed to by France and appealed for justice to France. Financial re-establishment, he told the newspapermen, is the first step toward the settlement of those engagements. "I do not regret Germany's prosperity," he said, "but I ask you to proclaim that my country has a share in it. I ask you to continue to help me in the present circumstances. We need the force of the three great democracies represented here to bring to the world the peace it has long desired. I ask you to courage of France, her past character, her heroism and her sacrifices." An official revised version of the premier's speech was issued by the foreign office.

Search For Bonanza Claim

Staking his faith on a map portraying the location of an Arctic bonanza, James Townsend Fullerton, former mayor of Port Townsend, Wash., and the founder of a logarithmic instrument on the Olympic Peninsula of Washington, is to make a search with a friend in April for a rich mine in Alaska. The mine was discovered and mapped many years ago by a prospector who died suddenly of tuberculosis, leaving 250 pounds of nuggets, said Mr. Fullerton.

The man who acts little makes a big mistake.

Minard's Liniment for Colds

This Lassie Has Her
Colds "Rubbed Away"

The mother of this attractive little girl, Mrs. E. E. Emmann, of 215 Seventh Ave., N. E., Portage La Prairie, Man., is one of the many Canadian mothers who are enthusiastic about the vaporizing salve, Vicks VapoRub, for treating children's colds. Mrs. Emmann writes: "My little girl had a cold at night pretty badly and Vicks did her a lot of good. I have also used it with very satisfactory results for head and chest colds."

Canadian Motor Exports

Importance of This Growing Industry to the Dominion

Canada leads the world in automobile exports in proportion to production, domestic sales or ownership of motor vehicles or to that of population. Not relatively but absolutely the automotive exports of the Dominion are only exceeded by those of the United States. Since 1920 the Dominion's doubled exports of Canada have more than doubled, the increase being from 9.5 per cent. to 17 per cent. of the automotive export trade of the world.

The most recent addition to the Canadian Pacific fleet of 23 passenger ships, freighters, barges, ferries and tugs in the British Admiralty Reserve type tug, "St. Florence," which will leave Glasgow at an early date to make the 3,500 mile journey to Victoria under her own steam via the Panama Canal. She will be one of the largest towing tugs in Pacific coast waters and is capable of towing the biggest liners making use of ports in that ocean.

Remarkable absence of timidity is being shown by wild animals in the neighborhood of Banff, Alberta, it is reported, as a result of kindly treatment. Heavy snows recently brought elk and deer into the main part of the town, where a parade by these animals is not an uncommon sight. They make the rounds of the houses, looking for tit-bits, which are not denied them. One big elk, with a magnificent set of antlers, is as regular on his schedule of calls as the milkman.

In conjunction with the further loan of $3,000,000 for colonization to be authorized by the Quebec legislature this season, it is also intended to raise the bounty to settlers on the acreage cleared. At present the government gives a bonus of $6 an acre. It will be raised to $8 an acre. The province spent $20,000 in this way in the last fiscal year.

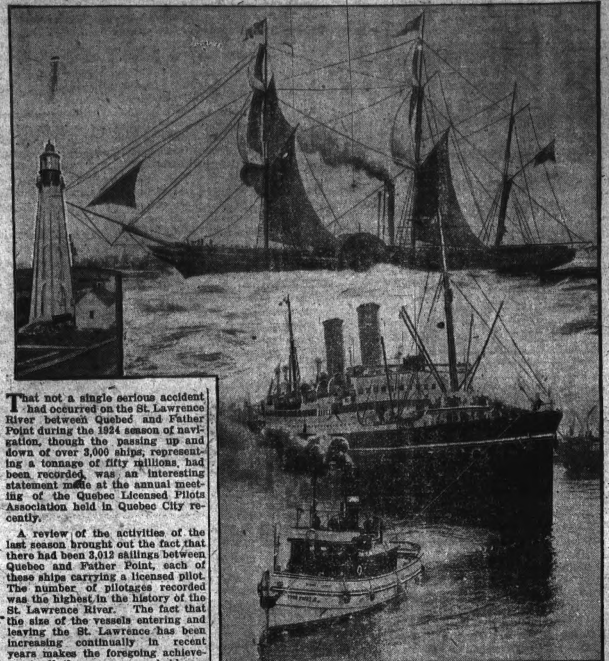

The amount of butter exported to Japan, through Vancouver, during 1924 was nearly twice that of 1923, according to figures supplied by the Japanese consulate at that point. The report shows that in 1924 the quantity was 476,454 pounds, as compared with only 299,096 pounds in 1923. Total cheese shipments to the same destination last year amounted to 2,685 pounds, as against only 40 in 1923.

A recent analysis of immigration according to occupation of immigrants arriving in Canada since 1920 shows a steady increase in the ratio of agriculturists and domestics towards all others. In 1921 the figure was 35 per cent. It was 44 per cent for the fiscal year ending March 31, 1922, 47 per cent for the fiscal year 1923-24 and 51 per cent for the nine months-April to December, 1924.

One of the outstanding features of the Great Commission Board's report for the season 1923-24, was the tribute paid to the excellent service rendered by the Canadian Pacific Railway in handling the western crop. Though the company handled 105,000 cars of grain, it received only six complaints about lack of cars from the railway and commission combined. In 1923-24, with an even larger number handled, there were only eight complaints.

St. Lawrence Route Claims Pilotage Record

That not a single serious accident had occurred on the St. Lawrence River between Quebec and Father Point during the 1924 season of navigation, though the passing up and down of over 3,000 ships, representing a tonnage of fifty millions, had been recorded, was an interesting statement made at the annual meeting of the Quebec Licensed Pilots Association held in Quebec City recently.

A review of the activities of the last season brought out the fact that there had been 3,012 sailings between Quebec and Father Point, each of these ships carrying a licensed pilot. The number of pilotages recorded was the highest in the history of the St. Lawrence River. The fact that the size of the vessels entering and leaving the St. Lawrence has been increasing continually in recent years makes the foregoing achievement all the more remarkable, as this has naturally increased the draught of the liners, some of which, as in the case of the Canadian Pacific, have reached thirty and at times thirty-three feet.

Advance bookings to date, indicate that the St. Lawrence route during 1925 will prove even more popular than heretofore. A large number of Holy Year pilgrims to Rome will enjoy a trip down the river on the

With but few exceptions, the route to Europe affords advantages other than scenic, which are, undoubtedly, the corresponding increase in tonnage and size of vessel operating on the route.

Keynote of Northland is Mystery

Mystery is said, is the keynote of the north. Mystery and silence. And because of its mystery there will always be an attraction, something to draw men on and hold them. For it is no mere legend that the north ever calls back those who have once lived in the snow and the mountains, or through an Alaskan summer. What is true of Alaska is also, to a very great extent true of the coast and western shores of Vancouver Island and of the northern mainland shoreline. Scarcely has one left "family tree," which has great significance in the aboriginal history and life of the Indians of the Coast, but which connotes its strange tales from the uninitiated white man.

Two striking examples of Indian art, totem poles which are said to be among the best on the Pacific Coast because of their excellent design, legendry and historical importance, have been brought from the west coast of Vancouver Island to Vancouver, B.C., where Mr. C. Bannister, who secured them from the Indians, has erected them in front of his home. They were made by the Haisla Indians and illustrate native legends and tribal history.

The Haisla Indians lay claim to being the first natives to see the white man in British Columbia. The tribe's legend of the seeing of these men dates back to 1782. The story told by these Indians is: "Two Indians were travelling along the west coast in canoes and in a light mist. Suddenly out of the mist there loomed a giant canoe with white wings and skulls hanging from them. All over the decks of the boat were strange-looking creatures such as they had never seen before. They had white faces and stone feet."

"One of the strange pulpits took a long stick and pointed it in the air and it started fire. Immediately a squall fell dead."

"The two Indians in the canoe never recovered from the shock of this quick succession of strange and terrifying scenes and died on the spot."

The totem which Mr. Bannister has secured exceeds twenty feet in height and have been set in concrete bases. The Great Eagle on the top of one of the poles was looked upon by Indians as a deity and is seen bringing the whale, which is also an emblem of great strength, to the powerful chief, Cep-Ta-Ka-Nim who was famous as a whale hunter.

When a potlatch, or great giving away feast, was held, all of the people of the tribe would gather in the lodge of the chief and a human skull thrown in amongst them. The man who was able to get out of the lodge with the skull was the hero of the potlatch and received the greatest measure of gifts and attention. Cep-Ta-Ka-Nim evidently accomplished this feat as he is seen holding the skull in his hands. The large killer whale beneath is part of his family crest or emblem.

On the other pole the top figure is the official dancing mask of the Haisla tribe. Beneath is depicted the legend of the Kingfisher and the Great Bear.

The kingfisher was looked upon as a great provoker and boaster. One day the bear was walking by a creek where the kingfisher was fishing. The Great Bear said: "You-Moo-Hee, you are always boasting to everybody of what you can do, yet you never seem to do anything. Now you never hear me boast, but I will show you what I can do." He stood up on his hind legs and started to draw a serpent out of his stomach much to the astonishment and amazement of the kingfisher.

In nearly all Indian legends the characters took on a dual personality, and were able at any time to change themselves into birds, animals or fishes.

Victoria Marks New Steamer's Arrival by Dinner to Pioneer of Coast Shipping

Group of Canadian Pacific Officials photographed on board the S.S. Princess Kathleen at Victoria, B.C., left to right: Capt. J. W. Scully, general manager agent Vancouver; Charles Mackay, general manager agent Victoria; J. H. Scully, general manager agent Vancouver; and Capt. J. W. Scully, general manager agent Victoria. In the center, Capt. J. W. Scully, general manager agent Vancouver, is seated. To his right, Capt. J. W. Scully, general manager agent Victoria, is seated. To his left, Capt. J. W. Scully, general manager agent Vancouver, is seated. In the background, the S.S. Princess Kathleen is visible.

The arrival of the new Canadian Pacific coastal steamer "Princess Kathleen" at Victoria, B.C., at the end of her lengthy trip from the Clyde, Scotland, where she was built, was made a public event by the residents of that city. Crowds met the ship when she steamed into the harbor, and the occasion was marked by a civic dinner to Captain J. W. Scully, manager of the Canadian Pacific British Columbia Coast Service, which was attended by two hundred citizens. The Mayor and aldermen of the city were present, as well as representatives of the Provincial Government. The company was represented by Vice-President Grant H. J. Scully, general manager eastern line, and C. H. Temple, chief of motive power and equipment, who crossed Canada from Montreal to be present, and Charles Murphy, general manager western line, Winnipeg. As a recognition of his many years' effort in contributing to the upbuilding of Victoria, Captain Scully was presented with a massive silver tray suitably engraved.

In returning thanks, Captain Scully told the history of the company's coastal steamship service since 1901, when he had taken over its management. At that time it represented an investment of about $250,000, whereas, he said, it now amounted to well over seven million dollars, while its expenditures in Victoria for equipment and supplies amounted to $45,000 monthly and Victoria's share of the monthly payroll was $65,000. He told of the building up of the fleet, ship by ship, as growing trade warranted. Captain Scully concluded by remarking that the officers and men of the Canadian Pacific were partners with Victoria and other Canadian cities in building up the tourist traffic and general trade of Canada, and that the future of the country could be assured by co-operation with the company in its national work.

Mr. Grant Hall, who represented President E. W. Beatty, told of the company's history and of its building as a national institution at the time of Confederation when it contracted to build the line and operate it in perpetuity. He told of the steady improvement of the property by the expenditure of many millions until it represented an investment of considerably over a billion dollars, and he referred to the company's reputation for efficiency and courtesy of its officials that has gone round the world. "The Canadian Pacific," he said, "is the largest contributor to the finances of the nation through taxation, and we expect to be judged and patronized on justification given in service."

Mayor J. C. Pendry, speaking of behalf of the city of Victoria, acknowledged the work done by Captain Scully and the company since his arrival in the Pacific Coast generally, while C. F. W. Schwenger, president of the Chamber of Commerce, in presenting the silver plate to Captain Scully, paid tribute to the value and determination of the men who had founded the Canadian Pacific. Dr. MacLean, Provincial Minister of Finance, spoke on behalf of the Government, referred to the company's record which, he said, was one of the brilliant illustrations of the readiness of the company to co-operate for the public good.

An unusual consignment passed through Montreal recently in the case of the Dominion Express Company when six Rocky Mountain sheep were shipped to Austria to form part of a zoological exhibit there. The animals, which are valued at $900, came from the National Park at Banff, Alberta.

Alberta farmers have recently been shipping a new commodity to the market. During the past few years there has been a considerable increase in the number of bee-keepers and last year 160 keepers had a total production of nearly 60,000 pounds of honey, valued at approximately $10,000. The exact number of bees is not known.

Contract for aeroplane spruce has been made between Vickers Limited, manufacturers of aeroplanes, and Frank L. Buckley, of Vancouver, B.C. The spruce will be logged on the Queen Charlotte Islands and shipped at the Buckley Mill at Port Clement, on Graham Island and at Burrard mill, in Vancouver. The contract calls for the delivery of two million feet during 1925.

Canada leads the world in automobile exports in proportion to production, domestic sales or ownership of motor vehicles or to population. Not relatively but absolutely the automobile exports of the Dominion are not exceeded by those of the United States. Since 1920 the motor vehicle exports of Canada have nearly doubled, the increase being from 9.5 per cent. to 17 per cent. of the automobile export trade of the world.

A special train of forty-two cars containing nearly 900 head of stock for export to Great Britain, arrived at the Canadian Pacific Railway's East End stock yards, Montreal, recently. These, added to shipments from Packerham, Ont., Toronto and other points in Ontario and Quebec, made up what cattlemen claimed to be the greatest concentration of Canadian cattle for export in the history of the trade. From the yards the cattle were shipped by special train to the ship's side at St. John, N.B.

When the round-the-world cruise passengers aboard the Canadian Pacific steamship "Empress of France," reached Egypt recently, they were entertained by Bush Khatib, a prominent sheik holding authority over a large number of villages along the Nile. Unfortunately, the sheik succumbed to a sudden attack of heart failure. The visitors from across the Atlantic before returning to their ship were permitted to attend the funeral, which was conducted in the desert with weird and impressive religious rites, an experience few world-travellers have known.

Skiing parties over the week-end are being conducted by the Laurentian Winter Club in different points in the Laurentian Mountains, the tours being superintended by a competent skier. To those remaining in Montreal the big six-chute toboggan slide on Mount Royal has an added attraction, in toboggan races every Saturday, winners receiving prizes.

That Canada is on the verge of a trade boom which may last until the end of this year was the statement made in Toronto recently by Richard Conway, Vice-President of the Brookmire Forecasting Service of New York. The main factor responsible for the upswing of Canadian business, he said, is the opening of the foreign markets to the grains of the past year.

Federal control of United States railroads, adopted as a war measure during the period December 31, 1917, February 29, 1920, cost the country $1,674,500,000, of which $1,123,500,000 was total loss, $550,000,000 estimated expenses and $15,000,000 was required to reimburse small deficit road, according to James C. Davis, Director General of Railroads, who has just submitted his annual report.

Fortieth Anniversary of Canada's First Trans-Continental System Marks Centenary of Locomotive.

Above is an unknown artist's conception of a first of speed on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway in 1828, between a horse-drawn car and Peter Cooper's steam locomotive. The first passenger car on the Canadian Pacific Railway, built in 1872, and used on the Toronto-Nipissing Railway—below, the "2300", the last of the name of locomotive engineers, as now operated by the Canadian Pacific.

TWO events mark 1926 notable in the annals of rail transportation. It marks the centenary of the locomotive engine and the fortieth anniversary of the completion of Canada's first transcontinental, the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line from Montreal to Vancouver. The first opened a new chapter in the history of the world; the second a new chapter in the history of Canada.

Looking back over the events of the intervening century it will readily be agreed that the introduction of the locomotive was one of the most important events in modern history. It has enriched the life of the Old World by bringing within the reach of the pioneer on the frontiers of civilization highly finished products which can be developed only where a numerous population makes possible a minute division of labour. It has given the settler in Northern Alberta, over 3,000 miles distant from London, a market in that great metropolis just as certain as that enjoyed by the English farmer. It has also made the same settler as much a customer of London as are the people of town or city.

The locomotive engine made its first appearance in Canada in 1837 on the Champlain and St. Lawrence Railroad. This road was only 16 miles long, and ran between the town of La Prairie on the St. Lawrence River and St. John's on the Richelieu. This railway was opened in 1826, being operated by horses during the first year.

However, it was not until with the incorporation of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1826 that the railway era in Canada really began. While a beginning had been made in 1837, still during the next fifteen years only 50 miles of line were added. The Grand Trunk linked up Ontario and Quebec, and gave both provinces direct connection with the Atlantic coast through Portland. It also laid the foundations for direct connection between that port and Chicago. Much railway building followed in Ontario. The next project of importance was the building of the intercolonial, which was begun in 1868, and completed in 1876. This gave Ontario and Quebec direct connection through Canadian territory with a Canadian port on the Atlantic open all the year round. In the meantime an agitation for the building of a railway to connect Ontario and Quebec with the Pacific Coast culminated in the incorporation of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

On November 7th, 1885 at Craigellachie in Eagle Pass, a gorge in the Gold Range, British Columbia, Sir Donald A. Smith, afterwards Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, rode the last spike in the main line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, thus connecting Montreal with Vancouver. This was a notable event not only in the history of Canada, but of the British Empire. By the connecting of the Pacific Coast with Montreal Canada secured its first transcontinental railway. Indeed, it was the first real transcontinental on this continent, for while in 1868 the east coast of the United States was connected with San Francisco by rail, and several other such connections have been added, still even now no single railway in the United States extends from Coast to Coast as does the Canadian Pacific in Canada. November 7th was also a notable day for the British Empire in that the Canadian Pacific provided a short cut from Britain to the Orient. As Sir Charles Tupper in his Reminiscences has pointed out, it brought Yokohama three weeks nearer to London than it was by the Suez Canal.

The history of the Canadian Pacific Railway is the history of Greater Canada. When it was first proposed there were only four provinces in Confederation, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia. Between 1870 and 1873 Prince Edward Island, Manitoba, and British Columbia entered, the last mentioned on the express condition that it would be connected with Eastern Canada by a line of railway. At that time Manitoba was a mere postage stamp in dimensions, and the regions between it and the Rockies were unorganized territory.

The promise of the Canadian Pacific not only brought British Columbia into Confederation, and gave Canada a window on the Pacific; but the building of it, by establishing direct and quick communication between the east and the west fixed the destiny of the vast regions west of the Great Lakes and north of the 49th parallel. The ties of settlement were thus strengthened by the economic link of steel. Fifty years ago it was by no means certain that the territories between Lake Superior and the Rockies would not pass into the hands of the United States. The shortest route from Eastern Canada to Fort Farley, now Winnipeg, was via Chicago and St. Paul. Trade moved north and south rather than east and west, so that political absorption seemed likely to follow American economic penetration.

It was with the development of Western Canada that the fortunes of the Canadian Pacific have been indissolubly linked. As it has expanded the West has grown. In 1858 there were hardly more than 100,000 people in the whole country west of the Great Lakes. As a result of the Red Rebellion the country was also in a state of utter confusion. Still the year 1858 marks the real beginning of the period of western development. The country continued its policy of aggressive construction by adding feeders to its main line. This encouraged settlement, for settlers felt themselves secure as long as they were not too far from the railway. Note how the population on the plains began to increase. In 1885, when there were not more than 1,000 miles of railway there were only 130,000 people in that vast territory between Winnipeg and Calgary and Edmonton; one-half of whom were located in Manitoba. Within the next 20 years the prairie provinces with about 4,500 miles of railway, had a population of 800,000. By 1923 these provinces had 20,000 miles of line, of which 8,500 belonged to the Canadian Pacific, and their population was 2,000,000.

The driving of the last spike at Craigellachie too marked the opening by the company of the most aggressive and sustained immigration and colonization campaign that Canada has witnessed. From that time to the present the company has spent nearly $70,000,000 on its immigration and colonization activities. And it got the immigrants too. During the years preceding the incorporation of the company immigrants were coming to Canada at the rate of only 36,000 a year. This was a very light inflow, for way back in 1812 as many as 52,000 were received; but during the period 1881-91 immigration was very nearly trebled; that is it came at the rate of 92,000 a year. Indeed, during the last two decades of the last century the Government seems to have left immigration pretty much to the company. For during the 1885-1902 period, the total expenditure on immigration was only $5,475,000, as compared with an appropriation of $4,400,000 this year. Through the company's agencies have come the greater proportion of the over 5,000,000 immigrants received during the last 40 years.

Coincident with the driving of the last spike at Craigellachie the company launched out as a promoter of foreign trade and transoceanic travel. In this department not only has it been by far the most important factor in Canada, but one of the most important within the British Empire, which in saying a great deal, when it is recalled that the latter is the greatest commercial unit that the world has ever seen. Within less than nine months after this spike had been driven there arrived at Port Moody, the then terminus of the Pacific, a brig from the trade route from Japan for the railway. That little brig the "W. B. Flint" of 800 tons, has grown into a great fleet of over 400,000 tons, sailing on two oceans, and linking Europe, America, Asia, and Oceania. In 1887 a regular trans-Pacific service was established, and in 1902 a similar service was launched on the Atlantic. Begun originally as a feeder to the freight department of the railway, the passenger feature of these steamship services has now become of chief importance. As an evidence of how the trans-Pacific trade has grown it may be said that in 1885 Canada sold to China only $5,972 worth of products and to Japan only $21,780 worth, whereas during the 12 months ending October, 1924, her sales to China were $1,442,162 and to Japan $26,708.

OPERATION OF ## COMPENSATION ACT

The annual report of the Alberta Workmen's Compensation Board for the year 1924 shows a total number of 7,382, compared with 9,160 for 1923. Of the total, 59 were fatal, 69 giving permanent disability and 7,255 temporary disability. The total assessment during the year was $3,692,721.26, of which $1,539,898 was paid in compensation, and $1,286,529.02 transferred to the pension fund and $32,000 set aside as a reserve in case of disaster. There is now a balance to the credit of the accident fund of $180,765.49. There is $1,163,361.72 in the pension fund, from which 164 widows and 289 children and 121 pensioners are drawing funds. The number of employers under the operation of the act in 1924, the number of employees is 39,643, and the total payroll is $55,996,687.97.

Mother—"How is it that you're late home nearly every day?"

Ernest—"Well, no wonder. We've got such a big clock in our school."

Mother—"Why, what has the big clock to do with it?"

Ernest—"Cause it's so big it takes the hands an awful long while to get round it. If we had a clock like papa's little one I'd get home a great deal quicker."

"Boll only yun erg for breakfast this morning."

Some newspapers in the province are advocating the abolition of the lieutenant-governor's position and its attendant frills, which are claimed to be unnecessary. One paper suggests that the position could well be filled by a supreme court judge and that practically all of the frills could be eliminated.

It was pouring rain at the time and she happened to remark to the maid that it was as bad as the flood. "The flood?" the maid retorted. "Yes," said Miss Croft, "the flood Noah, you know, and Mount Ararat." Imagine her surprise when the maid answered, apologetically: "You see, miss, I haven't had time to look at the papers yet."

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Jack O'Connell has returned from a visit to Leithridge.

Mrs. Bremner is paying her sister, Mrs. Frisbane, a visit.

Inspector Bremner visited the village school this week.

Hillie Swart and Fred Tustian are Leithridge visitors at present.

Mr. and Mrs. James Leigh are spending a few days in Calgary.

Mrs. Ryan and daughters Doris and Phyllis are the guests of Mrs. James Leigh.

A shower was given Mr. and Mrs. Brockwell on Monday night at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Donald.

Mr. and Mrs. James Smyth and family have returned from Vancouver, where they spent a few weeks.

A very successful whist drive was held on Wednesday evening. The prizes were won by Ladies' first, Mrs. Brockwell; ladies' second, Mrs. M. A. Murphy; gent's first, Mr. Hogan; gent's second, Wilfred Fortier. The consolation prizes went to Mrs. Littleton and Ted Bennis. Mrs. Fred Tustian, Miss Ruth Cleland and Robert Littleton acted as committee.

Eight thousand coal miners are idle because of a strike called by the higher-ups of the U.M.W. of A. in Nova Scotia. The British Empire Steel Corporation state they will not produce any coal under the 1924 scale of wages.

In the criminal assizes at Macleod this week, the cases against A. F. Farley and Wilfred Wolstenholme were dismissed. R. M. McPhoe and Minnie Wolstenholme were sentenced to three months each on the charge of extortion.

K. E. Johnson, C.P.R. section foreman at Pearce, near Macleod, committed suicide on Thursday night last. His body was found lying on the floor of the kitchen in the section house, with a bullet wound in the head, while a .32 calibre revolver was found beside the body.

It is interesting to note that the provincial department of attorney-general required almost as much money to operate during 1924 as was spent by the department of education. The actual figures are as follows: attorney-general's department $1,456,079.45; department of education $2,008,504.24.

It was the grammar lesson, and the teacher was doing her best to explain to her little scholars the meaning of "tense." "If the sentence, 'I had money,' is in the past tense, what tense is this sentence in—I have money?" she asked, and one bright pupil replied: "Present!"

NORWEGIANS TO
TWIN CITIES

Fifty Thousand Canadian-Norwegians Will Attend Norse-American Centennial at Minneapolis and St. Paul in June.

King Haakon, President Coolidge and Lord and Lady Byng Invited.

In June next, a between three and four hundred thousand Canadian and American Norwegians will gather at the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul to celebrate the centenary of the landing in America of the first organized party of Norwegian settlers on the Continent. It was in 1825 that the little sloop Restauration, of 45 tons, set sail from Stavanger carrying a little band of adventurers who settled in New York state and ever since that time there has been a steady stream of newcomers to this continent from their distant shores. The coming gathering and its purposes were recently discussed at the head offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, by Professor Gisle Rottne of the Minnesota state University at Minneapolis. The professor stated that the Legislatures of Minnesota had endorsed the gathering since that time there has been a steady stream of newcomers to this continent from their distant shores. The Pastor (driving to church, to pass by)—"Where are you going, John?"

John—"To church in the next parish."

Pastor—"I don't like that. What would you say if your sheep strayed to someone else's property?"

John—"Well, so far as that goes, I wouldn't say anything if the pasture was better."

It is already arranged that a large delegation from Norway's parliament will be present and that in some hope that the Norwegian Crown Prince may attend. Five Norwegian-American universities are closing for the summer early so that their faculties and students may be present. Professor Rottne pointed out that the Norwegians had done much in the building up of the central western states and their influence was shown by the fact that the governors of no less than five states were of Norwegian birth or descent. It has been proposed that the Canadian Department of Colonization shall have an exhibit at the convention.

In the course of the interview Professor Rottne stated that undoubtedly the new United States immigration law would result in large numbers of Norwegians coming to this country during the next few years.

Some of our neighbors are wondering at what age Calgarians go over seas. Some boys of their juveniles team had to visit the barber shops for shaves during their stay here, while some others visited the beauty parlor to have stray gray hairs plucked from their locks. Others carried cigarette papers with re-loading apparatus, while still others made use of language termed English on the golf course.

The members of Crowview Rebekah Lodge and Blairmore Subordinate Lodge, I.O.O.F., gave a shower in the Lodge Hall last night, in honor of Mr. Smith and Miss Lillian Evans, who are to be married shortly. A large number were present and the young couple were made recipients of a large number of beautiful and useful presents. Tables were set for supper and were laden with tempting viands, which all enjoyed. Dancing and a general social time followed. Mr. Smith and Miss Evans are to be united in matrimony on March 25th.

Teacher—"George, can you tell me what a hypocrite is?"

George—"Yes, ma'am. It's a boy who comes to school with a smile on his face!"

EUROPEAN MANAGER OF C.N.R.

Announcement is made at Montreal by Sir Henry W. Thornton that C. J. Smith, executive assistant of the Canadian National Railways, has been appointed vice-president of the system in charge of the European and continental business with headquarters at 19 Cockspur street, London, England. The office of executive assistant to the present has been abolished. Mr. William Phillips, who has been European manager, and who wishes to return to Canada, will be appointed manager of the industrial department with headquarters at Montreal, succeeding W. P. Fitzsimmons, recently moved to the United States lines with headquarters at Buffalo.

TRANSCONTINENTAL

PHONE CONNECTION

It will not be long before Alberta people will be able to hold phone communication with New York, San Francisco, and other points in the United States. Within the next three months, connection will be established between the Alberta Government phone system and the Transcontinental phone system in the States, by means of three long distance lines which are to be brought to the southern border of the province by way of the Mountain phone system in Montana. This will provide almost continent-wide phone connection for Alberta.

A teacher in a suburban school, hearing a smothered laugh, enquired who dared to be so rude. "Please, sir, it was me," answered a loud voice, "but I did not mean it."

"Did not mean it?" queried the now angry teacher.

"No, sir, I laughed up my sleeve, but I did not know there was a hole in my elbow!"

Aunt—"And you were a very good little girl at church this morning, Sally?"

Sally—"Oh yes, Aunt. A man of fered me a big plate full of money, and I said 'No, thank you.'"

The Third Degree will be handed at the regular meeting of Livingstone Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias, tomorrow night. Members from Celestina will assist in the work. Refreshments will be served following the meeting.

Judging by reports contained in Western Canada daily papers a week or two ago, one would judge that the greater portion of Eastern Canada had been upset by an earthquake, but letters from friends in the affected area would indicate that there was barely enough stir to upset the ordinary every-day stomach.

A much needed work was undertaken this week, when the extension of the cement wall protecting the west side of Lyon Creek between State and Stuart Streets was commenced. This work, we understand, is part of the plan of the federal government to guard against further gressions from high water.

Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyright, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a vivid picture by J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, is deported as a slave to the Barbadoes by King James. He is bought by Colonel Bishop and falls in love with Arabella, the niece of the colonel. Don Diego de Sarmiento, Valdes captures Bridgetown. Blood saves Mary Trull and Arabella. He captures the Spanish mailboat, the Cinco Lagas. After escaping from another Spanish ship at Hispaniola, Captain Blood sails to Tortuga, rendezvous of the buccaners of the Spanish Main. There, feeling that Arabella is lost to him for ever, he takes command of a private fleet and changes the name of the Cinco Lagas to the Arabella. He rescues a Frenchman who is in love with Madelon, the romantic daughter of O'Geron, joins Blood. They are joined together when Levasseur gets word from Madelon to rescue her from a Dutch brig. Later, when the Dutchman, makes a prisoner of Madelon's brother, and earns her contempt by his brutality.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued

Thereafter, what time the Captain languished in his lady's smile within the cabin, Cahusa was dealing with the spoils of war. The Dutch crew was ordered into the dungeon, and bidden go to the devil. Fortunately, as they numbered fewer than thirty, the job, though perilously overcrowded, could yet contain them. Next, Cahusa having inspected the cargo, put the quartermaster and a score of men aboard the Jongvrouw, and left her to follow La Foudre, which he now headed north for the Leeward Islands. The lady's brother was presently conducted to the cabin. The Captain rose to receive him, holding his staff upright to avoid striking the cabin roof with his head. Mademoiselle rose, too.

"Why this?" she asked Levasseur, pointing to her brother's plumed wrist.

"I deplore it," said he. "I desire it to end. Let M. d'Ogeron give me his parole."

"I give you nothing."

"Henri, this is foolish! You are not behaving as my brother. You—"

"Little fool. Don't you perceive your wicked folly in the harm it has brought already? Lives have been lost—men have died—that this noise might overtake you. And don't you yet realize where you stand—in the power of this beast, of this cut-throat in a kennel and bred in thieving and murder?"

He might have said more but that Levasseur struck him on the mouth. Mademoiselle suppressed a scream, as the youth staggered back under the blow.

"You see," he said simply. "It strikes a man whose hands are bound."

The simple words, and more than the words, their tone of ineffable disdain aroused the passion that never slumbered deeply in Levasseur. He opened the door, and flung her brother through.

"Put that rubbish under hatches until I call for it again," he roared, and shut the door.

Composing himself, he turned to the girl again with a deprecating smile. But no smile answered him from her net face. She had seen her beloved hero's nature in curl papers. Fear growing to panic was written on her face, as she stood there leaning for support against the table. He caught her, seized her in his long arms and pulled her to him.

"No, no!" she panted.

"Yes, yes," he mocked her, and his mockery was the most terrible thing of all. "He crushed her to him brutally, deliberately hurtful because she resisted, and kissed her whilst she writhed in his embrace."

Someone knocked. Cursing the interruption, Levasseur strode off to open Cahusa. Stood before him. The Breton's face was grave. He came to report that they had sprung a leak between wind and water, the consequence of damage sustained from one of the Dutchman's shots. In alarm Levasseur went off with him. Ahead of them a low cloud showed on the horizon, which Cahusa pronounced one of the northernmost of the Virgin Islands.

"We must run for shelter there, andersen her," said Levasseur. "I do not trust this oppressive heat."

He caught her—seized her in his long arms and pulled her to him storm may catch us before we make land."

"A storm or something else," said Cahusa grimly. "Have you noticed that?" He pointed away to starboard.

Levasseur looked and caught his breath. Two ships that at the distance seemed of considerable burden were heading towards them some five miles away.

For the remainder of that day Levasseur's thoughts were of anything but love. He remained on deck, his eyes now upon the land, now upon those two slowly gaining ships. To run for the open could avail them nothing, and in his lonely condition would provide an additional danger. He must stand at bay and fight. And then, towards evening, when within three miles of shore and when he was about to give the order to strip for battle, he almost fainted from relief to hear a voice from the crew's nest above announce that the larger of the two ships was the Arabella. Her companion was presumably a pirate.

Levasseur peeped in a boat accompanied by Cahusa and two officers, and went to visit Captain Blood aboard the Arabella.

"Our brief separation" has been mighty profitable," was Captain Blood's greeting. "It's a busy morning we've both had."

The tall ship that accompanied the Arabella was a Spanish vessel of twenty-six guns, the Santiago from Puerto Rico, with a hundred and twenty thousand weight of cargo, forty thousand pieces of eight, and the value of ten thousand more in jewels. A rich capture of which twofold under the articles went to Levasseur and his crew. Of the money and jewels a division was made on the spot. The cargo it was agreed should be taken to Tortuga to be sold.

Then it was the turn of Levasseur, and black grew the brow of Captain Blood as the Frenchman's tale was unfolded. At the end he roundly expressed his disapproval.

But Levasseur answered him, as he had answered Cahusa, that a ship was a ship, and it was ships they needed against their insatiable enterprise. Perhaps because things had gone well with that day, Blood ended by shrugging the matter aside. Thereupon, Levasseur proposed that the Arabella and her prize should return to Tortuga, there to unload the cargo and enlist the further adventures that could now be shipped. Levasseur meanwhile would effect certain necessary repairs, and then proceed south, await his admiral at Saltafundo for their enterprise against Maracaibo.

To Levasseur's relief, Captain Blood not only agreed, but pronounced himself ready to set sail at once.

No sooner had the Arabella departed than Levasseur brought his ships into the lagoon, and set his crew to work upon the erection of temporary quarters ashore for himself, his men, and his enforced guests during the careening and repairing of La Foudre. At sunset that evening, the ship, decked out in a sale, and from that to catch a hurricane that Levasseur was thankful to find himself ashore and his ships in safe shelter.

CHAPTER XV.

The Return

In the story of the following morning, sparkling and clear after the storm, with an invigorating breeze, the ship lay in the air from the salt ponds on the south of the island, a curious scene was played on the beach of the Virgin Magra, at the foot of a ridge of bleached bones, beside the spread of sail from which Levasseur had improvised a tent.

Enthroned upon an empty cat sat the French filibuster to transact important business; the business of making himself safe with the Governor of Tortuga. Before him, guarded by two half-naked negroes, stood young d'Ogeron. Near at hand, and under guard, mademoiselle his sister sat hunched upon a hillock of mud. Levasseur addressed himself to M. d'Ogeron.

"I trust, monsieur," said he, with mock suavity, "that I have made myself quite clear. Your ransom is fixed at twenty thousand pieces of eight, and you shall have liberty on parole to go to Tortuga to collect it. Meanwhile, your sister remains with me in a hostage."

"I refuse—utterly and absolutely, do you understand? So your worst, and be damned for a filthy pirate," cried d'Ogeron.

"Remember your sister's honour in this, monsieur. Should you forget to return with the dorry, you will not consider it unreasonable that I might, to marry her." M. d'Ogeron observed the grey despair that had almost stamped the beauty from her face.

"No, you dog. A thousand times, no!"

"I beg that you will spare yourself and your sister," said the Captain, "by being reasonable. I have been too modest. But since I have said twenty thousand pieces of eight, twenty thousand pieces it shall be."

"And for what, if you please, have you said twenty thousand pieces of eight?"

Started, Levasseur and his officers looked up and around. One of the dunces behind them, in sharp silhouette against the deep cobalt of the sky, they beheld a tall, lean figure scurrying up a black with silver lace, a crimson ostentatious curl about the broad brim of his hat affording the only touch of colour. Under that hat was the tawny face of Captain Blood.

"Good morning, my captain," said he, "it was last night's hurricane compelled our return. But who are these?"

Levasseur gnawed his lip, and changed colour. But he controlled himself to answer civilly:

"As you see two prisoners."

"Ah! Wand ashore in last night's gale, eh?"

Old Prophecy Coming True

New York Hotel Carrying Out One Of Bellamy's Ideas

One of the big New York hotels announces that it is installing a radio receiving set in every room. Thus, there need be no lack of entertainment by day or night.

It is suggested that this system will be especially convenient for the guest who likes to hear a little music before he goes to sleep. And so it fulfilled the absurd prophecy made by Edward Bellamy, half a century ago, in his "Looking backward."

To the effect that, some time we should be able, by turning a switch after getting into bed, to be lulled to sleep by pleasant music.

Soon we may have such contrivances in our bedrooms at home. They may even be built into the beds—St. Catharines Standard.

A Year's Dairy Products

In 1922, according to the Dominion dairy and cold storage news letter, Canada produced 151,624,375 lbs. of cheese valued at $28,645,192; 102,834,608 lbs. of creamery butter valued at $46,315,410; and 100,000,000 lbs. of dairy butter valued at $30,000,000. In all the dairy products turned out, the quantity of milk used was 11,765,564,229 lbs. of fat equivalent to 411,794,143 lb. of which the total value was $233,629,023.

Fishing For Eels

Eels in growing quantity are being taken from the coastal and inland waters of the Dominion each year. During the 1923 season, 1,114 eels were caught by sea fishermen and 13,763 eels were taken in the inland waters. Levasseur's eels, as compared with catches, 1,434 eels, and 1,719 eels respectively in the previous year.

Old-Time Saturday Night

Some of the Ideas Could Be Used With Profit Now

Every Saturday night is a very true sense offers a time for a checking-up process in the lives of individuals or collectively of families. There was a time in the history of this people when a solemn hush came over the family as the twilight hours fell upon the city and countryside. Shoes were blacked, cooking was finished, the family altar was set up, and whole families waited in a true religious manner for the dawn of the Sabbath day. But time is a relentless sort of machine. It crushes ambitions, annihilates tradition, destroys our fondest dreams. Today much of the solemnity which in former days was a part of Saturday night has disappeared, and one and all, old and young, give themselves over to thoughts of relaxation from the strenuous work of the preceding week and succumb to worry. In a sense it would be a magnificent thing if we here in America could get back to some of the old-fashioned ideas which we have held, faithfully to Saturday night.

If we could sum up, for example, our week's accomplishments and plan for the coming days we could go forward in new and greater tasks, we should gain new inspirations for service to ourselves, and to others. This may sound idealistic, but it is the sort of idealism that we need more and more as we progress.—Dayton News.

A British Crusader

Tomb Found in Jerusalem of Man Who Witnessed Signing Of British Charter

The tomb of a British crusader, who witnessed the signing of Magna Charta, has been discovered almost in the entrance to the holy sepulchre at Jerusalem.

The ancient worthy was Philip Daubene, once a governor of the Channel Islands, and one of King John's counselors at the time that the French monarch visited Runnymede. Daubene died in the Holy Land about 1234.

Before sailing against the infidel, Daubene returned the young King Henry III. The ancient inscription on the tomb still is legible. It was identified by General Storres, British governor of Jerusalem, who found the crusader's arms on the gravestone.

Daubene was identical with the Daubene mentioned in the documents attached by Daubene at Jersey, the capital of the Channel Islands.

Alarm Clocks Play Chime

A young musician of Melbourne, Australia, decided there was music in everything. Even in an alarm clock. So he took a number of alarm clocks and filed the bells down until he had a perfect chromatic scale. Now he is awakened each morning with the clocks playing a chime-like tune.

Father—I don't know what I'll ever make of that shiftless son of mine! Friend—Isn't he gifted in any way? Father—Gifted. Well, I should say he is! He hasn't got a thing that wasn't given to him!

There Are Exceptions

Manager of Store—What do you mean by arguing with that lady? Let her have her own way. Remember, a customer is always right.

Assistant—But she said we were swindlers.

The campaign cost of electing a new British Parliament is estimated at more than $25,000,000.

Artesian Wells Known to Ancients

Oldest One in Europe Was Sunk in Twelfth Century

Artesian wells are of great antiquity; they were known to the Chinese and Egyptians of remote ages. Europe's oldest known is that at Lillers, in Artois, France, from which province the name artesian is derived. This well was sunk in the twelfth century. Wells were sunk in various parts of Europe and in the Sahara Desert. Wherever the geological formation is favorable, water can be procured from the inexhaustible "waters under the earth."

In Queensland, 500 artesian wells, some 4,000 feet deep, but averaging 1,170 feet, produce nearly 195,000,000 gallons of water daily and have transformed much country from aridity to fertility. East of the coast range are about a score 3,200 feet deep. Notable artesian wells exist in Europe, one in Schladebach, in Prussia, being nearly a mile in depth. The mineral fountains in Trafalgar Square, London, are supplied from artesian wells.

The Smallest Engraving

A forty-four letter word has been engraved in the eye of a needle and sent to the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, D.C., by Alfred McEwan. It can be read only when magnified 88 times. McEwan calls it "a crude, hurriedly prepared large sample of micro-engraving."

Far Fetched Criticism

The London Times gives nearly two columns of life space to a pessimistic article on Canada, written from California by a correspondent who is not a native of this country, who spends his winters in the south, and who deeply laments the "rigors" of the Canadian climate.—Toronto Globe.
